About SOFA

The Society for Opioid Free Anesthesia is an organization dedicated to educating anesthesia providers and patients on opioid free anesthesia and pain management as well as promoting research in this field. Founded in January of 2017, it has quickly grown to include thousands of anesthesia providers on 3 continents who are changing the way they practice anesthesia to improve patient outcomes. They are using opioid free anesthesia to provide a safer anesthetic by eliminating the respiratory depression opioids cause, and choosing medications that provide superior post-operative pain control, while greatly reducing the risk of addiction and dependence.

The 3rd Annual Opioid Free Anesthesia Congress brings together the leaders in opioid free anesthesia from all over the world. Participants will learn the latest techniques in administering opioid free anesthesia and have the opportunity to listen to the pioneers in this field discuss their method of administering opioid free anesthesia, the newest research being done, and answer any questions.
