About SOFA

The Society for Opioid Free Anesthesia is a non-profit organization dedicated to educating anesthesia providers and patients on opioid free anesthesia and pain management as well as promoting research in this field. Founded in January of 2017, it has quickly grown to include thousands of anesthesia providers worldwide, who are changing the way they practice anesthesia to improve patient outcomes. They are using opioid free anesthesia to provide a safer anesthetic by eliminating the respiratory depression opioids cause, and choosing medications that provide superior post-operative pain control, while greatly reducing the risk of addiction and dependence.

The 4th Annual Opioid Free Anesthesia Congress brings together the leaders in opioid free anesthesia from all over the world. Participants will learn the latest techniques in administering opioid free anesthesia, learn from pioneers in this field about their methods, hear the latest research being done, and have the opportunity to ask questions from a variety of practitioners.
